Lira de Mareasari

SONG · SACRED

krono raho baba melonulu po hiro farlafa yuta colbi.
Time began with a melody made with color

li lore de li lumiasasan mareasa po donuda kronobio ala veluri.
The heart of the divine mother gave birth to stars

saivo de navuasasan havli po belruba lumi ala narvo.
Her celestial breath brought light to darkness

saivo de maremiru po naminia li veluasasan linuri kroti mernolumi.
Her milk nourished the star child before dawn

narvoasa po kronobioka ata po surusia larne ala saivo de narvonasan vani.
Demons were born and felt anger towards her flawless beauty en larne li narvo po zarmoza saivo de yuge.

In anger the darkness striked her body

li merasan minva po milobema ala saivo de lenrari.
The merciful woman smiled to her enemies

saivo po lallela saivo de manliri ata baba tarnu po kronobioka vobi vanru.
She opened her hands and a man was born for war

saivo po veseva ala li tarnu raho po tivrota baba tisebiti.

She whispered to the man who held a blade

lanto, saivo po veseva fime raho saivo viki ke saivo de devorivo.

She whispered that eventually he would be her spouse

eli vanisan vera po ke baba opi raho polvapa saivo de faru.

This beautiful truth was a hope which powered his fire

saivo de lumiasasan tisebiti po karkoka toda narvo raho saivo po navdinia.

His divine blade killed every darkness he found li suma de barni po ke yalmunami vobi saivo de faru.

The warmth of blood was fuel for his fire li mareasa de lumiasa po vimova gase li tarnusan trana ala baba velu.

The mother of light observed as the man changed to a star

saivo po lirala ala saivo baba lumiasasan seno.

She sang to him a holy word

saivo po lemula saivo de nole, ata po surusia navuasasan tranaasa.

he learned his name, and felt celestial ascension
